Transitional Neurorehabilitation and Assisted Living Services
for Persons with Acquired Brain Injury

Tree of Life was created by Nathan D. Zasler, MD, an internationally respected expert in brain injury medicine and rehabilitation to fill the gap in the continuum of care available for this population. We provide comprehensive, community based, post-acute neurorehabilitation for persons with acquired brain injury.

- POST-ACUTE TRANSITIONAL REHABILITATION in spacious homes that ensure a comfortable, safe home-like setting.
- LONG TERM SUPPORTED LIVING in supervised homes and apartments in the community,
- AGING IN PLACE services for our clients with advancing medical, cognitive and behavioral impairments.
- OUT-PATIENT services at Concussion Care Centre of Virginia.

Tree of Life strives to provide specialized, state of the art, holistic, functionally-oriented services to our clients and their families. Our experience shows that the right rehab, with the right people, at the right time, optimizes functional outcome and cost efficiency. Our beautiful, comfortable homes have fully-furnished, private rooms with phone, cable, internet and private, accessible bathrooms. Nutritional meals are prepared by a full-time, professional chef.

We, at Tree of Life, pride ourselves on our person-centered approach to neurorehabilitation of individuals with acquired brain injury (ABI). We provide transitional neurorehabilitation, as well as long-term assisted living services, in a community-based setting with access to social, vocational and health care opportunities. Tree of Life embraces a biopsychosocial approach to treatment. We offer more than just expertise... we offer opportunities for hope, where others may have said there were none. Our clients' successes are built upon our compassion, dedication, experience and innovative approach to ABI neurorehabilitation.
